NAZI PLANE CRASHES INTO RUMANIA

No Definite Explanation Of Large-Scale Movement: Balkan Countries Nervous

Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON

British United Press War Expert

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

REPORTS from Budapest that Germany is moving between 20 and 30 fully equipped divisions into Rumania through Hungary have no basis in known facts of the new conditions in southeastern Europe. If the reports are true, they would imply the sudden development of a critical situation facing the Axis with Germany being called upon to try and readjust it.

An army as large as the Budapest reports describe would be sufficient for the first phase of a thrust through Bulgaria against both Turkey and Greece. But it is recently announced that the disintegration of the Bulgarian army has been ordered, which would, scarcely have occurred without assurance that the Axis did not intend to invade Bulgaria.

It is possible that Italy has secretly asked Hitler to create a mobile division in Bulgaria, hoping to lessen German pressure in Albania and British pressure in Italy. A German military concentration in Rumania, threatening Greece and the Dardanelles, might disturb Greek strategy.

It is impossible, however, that the manoeuvre would compel the British to withdraw troops from Libya to strengthen the Syria defences.

Hitler May Plan To Aid Italians In Albania Or Bulwark Own Position In the Balkans

BUDAPEST, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Nazi leaders in Rumania were reported today in diplomatic dispatches today to have ordered a big speed-up in Rumania's manufacture of war materials as crowded trains, carrying the vanguard of some 300,000 fresh German troops, rolled across Hungary into the Balkan kingdom of young King Michael.

By HAROLD PETERS

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 26.—(U.P.)—Diplomatic sources reported today that Germany is boosting her "garrisson" forces in Rumania toward 500,000 men, possibly to aid Italian troops bogged down in Albania or to bulwark her own position in the Balkans.

There was no definite explanation of the reported large-scale Nazi troop movements but some reports said a limited number of German troops would be based in Bulgaria.

(This report was denied in Sofia.)

These possible explanations of the movement were offered.

1.—Reinforcement of the German position in the Balkans, bringing indirect pressure on Turkey, Bulgaria and Russia.

Russian relations with Rumania have been bad in recent weeks.

2.—A preliminary move to a thrust across Yugoslavia against Greece. No German army headquarters are being established close to the Yugoslav frontier. Yugoslavia provides an easy route to Salonika and Greek troops are now concentrated on the Albanian front.

3.—A feint or precautionary movement to protect the German southeast front while a new major offensive is being launched in some other area, such as an all out attack on Britain or a lightning attack to close the western entrance of the Mediterranean.

There was some speculation as to a possible move by Germany against Russia but it did not appear that any motives existed for the Germans to open up a new front which would extend along the whole of their eastern border.

Reports said that between 1,000 and 1,200 trains had been requisitioned by German authorities for the transportation of the Nazi troops through Hungary.

The troop movement was expected to approach full speed on Saturday. The director general of the Hungarian state railroad announced last Monday that there would be a drastically curtailed railway schedule effective on that day.

Holiday travellers were warned that if they were not home by then the government could not guarantee railway facilities for their return.

A British despatch of the United Press said that authorized German troops today denied any report that Germany was sending an army into Rumania. A Nazi spokesman said there were no grounds for the report at all and blamed it on great sensationalism in the Balkans.

DOUBLE PURPOSE

In Budapest diplomatic quarters and that any new German troop movement into Rumania might be the double purpose of providing a springboard for a possible thrust into Greece and Albania, to aid

Italy and to check any possible advance of German troops into the Balkans.

Parade of German troops through Bulgaria should certainly involve Turkey, and Rumania might desire to move to Turkey's

It was also suggested that if Germany wanted her campaign in the Balkans to be successful, it might make the opportunity to move deeper into Rumania.

Meanwhile German circles in Budapest are growing increasingly convinced that the continued deterioration of Rumanian relations in recent weeks has been a deliberate move to bring about a German advance into the present diplomatic crisis.

Housewife Can Help To Improve National Health

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

There are millions of people who are without adequate diet according to standards of the Federal Bureau of Home Economics. Although these men, women and children are not starving, they are suffering from inadequate nourishment caused by faulty diet. In the drive for national defense, certainly every housewife can help overcome this serious diet deficiency in our wealthy country. About 20 per cent of the men called up for the draft were rejected because they were physically unfit. That means in a large percentage of cases, they had not been on a diet at home to produce normal growth and health.

OVERSEAS MEN WELL TREATED ON CHRISTMAS

Hospitable Doors Of Old Country Homes Welcome Troops

By ROSS MUNRO
WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY
SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND.
Dec. 26.—(CP)—Wealthy and humble of the United Kingdom opened their doors to Canadian troops on active service yesterday and thousands of troops enjoyed a robust Christmas dinner despite the need for unceasing vigilance against the threat of invasion.
The old country folk out-did themselves in proffering hospitality and a Christmas away from home that might have been dreary was transformed into one that will be mainly remembered. For those who could not take the time to visit duty there were special dinners in the messes.

LOCAL HOSPITALITY
More than enough invitations to humble cottages and stately homes were received for all officers and men of the 1st Canadian Division who could be spared from duty.
The 2nd Division, too, was in England, but not in a position to leave as many Regulars as the 1st, but they had special "dinner in their own messes." Canadian air fighters held their own dinners and at a station of the Royal Canadian Air Force, an American cooperation squadron, officers walked in and provided their own drinks and smoked out their own pipes.

Canadian women serving in their pockets had special spreads abroad warships or in homes of friends abroad.
Unfortunately, there is to spend the day and in Canadian hospitals, received first gifts from the Canadian Red Cross and other institutions and another day of hills over extra large portions of food.

The entire staff of 30 men and girls in a home at a southern town gave up their holiday to entertain 100 Canadians. Dinner was served in the store's restaurant with the cousins waiting at the door to take them to the mess hall after ward. The staff contributed a Christmas bonus in cash to the Canadian Red Cross. The firm gave away free beer.

THEATRE ENTERTAINMENT
Cine-Clubs, movie screen actors entertained 24 Canadians and New Zealanders at a country estate, and at a private showing of Charlie Chaplin's "The Great Dictator." While scores of restaurants were staged around camp by various Canadian auxiliary services, officers and men on leave in London were given free full course dinners and games waiting for them at the Beaver Club, British Columbia House, the Canadian Legion, and the British Army headquarters. One there was a "spice of free beer or sherry."

A lively near headquarters of the newly-returned Canadian corps was taken over by Major G. G. Corbett, a professional artist, arranged for officers and men of the headquarters staff by the corps camp commandant, Major K. J. Williams, out interest. The first provides for eight equal instalments payable at the end of each month from January in August and has the advantage of simplicity in addition to avoiding beavier payments toward the end of the period. Under the second, which requires a larger first payment, the balance of the tax is paid in four equal instalments.

The new scheme has been set up in recognition of the fact that the increased taxes on 1940 income will present difficulties for the government unless he is able to meet them in easy stages. To cushion the burden of taxes that have been doubled and tripled in many cases, the government has decided to allow taxpayers to spread the payment of their taxes over a longer period.

An exact calculation of the tax is not required. The taxpayer is allowed to estimate the amount of his tax as closely as possible in January and make his payments on that basis. If he has overestimated it, the difference will be paid in the ordinary way on April 26, with five per cent interest after that date.

The whole plan is voluntary. Instead of making the budget plan workable, the department emphasized that the taxpayer should be able to pay his taxes in a way to suit him. Anyone falling behind in the payments will be required to pay the balance of the tax on April 26, with five per cent interest after that date.

GUEST CHILDREN TALK TO PARENTS CHRISTMAS DAY

The most thrilling Christmas gift of all, a talk with their parents and a bomb battered London, was presented to three Edmonton guest children, Johnny Gibson, 74, and other brothers, Michael, 16, and George, 13.

The children spoke from the city in an inter-continental broadcast, arranged by three major broadcasting companies.

Speaking from London, in clear, well understood tones, Mr. Gibson asked Johnny if Father Christmas had been good to him and the already Canadianized son seemed puzzled.

"You mean Santa Claus," the youngster suggested to his father in far away London. This caused laughter in both the Edmonton and London studios.

Then when the mother of Johnny asked her son how he liked Canada he replied "O.K." to which Mr. Gibson replied it was quite apparent that American slang was mastered by the youngsters.

The hour-long broadcast was described by radio engineers as one of the most complicated but at the same time most successful of trans-Atlantic broadcasts.

200 Vets Are Guests Of Mike On Christmas Day: Legion Sponsors Fete

Attended by more than 200 veterans of the First Great War, the annual Christmas dinner served by John MacKinnon, Edmonton Businessman, under the auspices of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.L.S., was held Wednesday noon in the Royal George hotel.

The vets certainly stood stoutly. A resume of the bill of fare shows that the dinner started off with a fruit cocktail, served on in the soup raised up into the turkey and trimmings, ate through the plum pudding and had an extensive hot in the fruit cake.

The men were seated in small groups around tables situated in the big banquet room, Christmas decorations added to the gaiety of the occasion as the men tossed around old war stories and jokes, and other during the meal.

Among the Legion officials present was William "Paddy" Griffin, who moved around amongst the tables looking to the satisfaction of the officials contributed a great deal of the merriment of the occasion.

The dinner was enjoyed in two sittings—the first "early" dinner at about noon. The second batch of the first group finished. Several members of the active service were present.
